BACKWARD LOOK

TEN YEARS AGO
From Bulloch Times, July 8, 1943.
Mrs. H. P. Jones has been appointed county chairman of the campaign by the American Legion Auxiliary to enlist Georgia women in the U. S. Marine Corps Women's Reserve.

Governor and Mrs. Ellis Arnall will be guests of Statesboro next Thursday for the entire day; committee in charge represents four civic clubs—Senior and Junior Chambers of Commerce, Lions Club and Rotary Club.

Watermelon contest brews at Times office; Lonnie Brannen brought us a forty-pounder, followed by a sixty-pounder by Charles Bryant, and then a miscellaneous shower from Lowell Mallard, Bill Strickland, John Lee and Charlie Cone. It was watermelon time at the Times office.

Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce elected officers: Wendell Burke, president; Earl McElveen, vice-president; W. T. Smalley, secretary; A. J. Key, treasurer; Robert Donaldson, parliamentary and councilors; directors, Hoke Brunson, Bob Pound, Earl Franklin, William Smith and John L. Jackson.

Recall the first fat stock show and sale in the Southeast which was held at Statesboro on November 17, 1932. The total prize list for this show amounted to $215, of which $25 was awarded the grand champion steer. There were twelve exhibitors with sixty head of cattle, weighing a total of 33,885 pounds, an average of less than 565 pounds per head. The grand champion steer was a short-horn-Angus steer from Jenkins county, Ga., weighing 850 pounds and was sold for 10 cents per pound. He was not graded but it is doubtful that he would have shown better than grade Good. None of the cattle had any grass fattening, many of them being many fatted very little beef food. The average sale price was 4 cents per pound.

Other shows and sales followed at Macon in 1935; Albany in 1934; Atlanta in 1936; Augusta and Moultrie, Ga. DeKalb and Montgomery, Ala. in 1937, and Columbus, Ga. in 1938. The first show and sale at which cattle were graded was in Savannah April 3, 1934, and the first prime steer produced in Georgia, so far as we have any record, was shown at market within a few years changed from the demand for "Club Beef" to the demand for the state following the spring fat stock shows and sales.

From the example set by the club boys and girls, adult producers and feeders have so improved the quality of their cattle and their feeding practices that now Alabama and Georgia musters are as readily accepted for quality at the meat counters as Western musters.

Full information and application forms may be obtained from Frank Hook located at Statesboro Post Office.

Two Local Students To Enter University

At Athens, July 1.—Two recent graduates of Bulloch County High School, Mary Eugenia Martin, of 429 South Main street, and Robert Franklin Donaldson Jr., of Park avenue, Statesboro, will be among the 100 outstanding Georgia high school seniors receiving freshman scholarships to the University of Georgia for the 1953-54 college year, according to an announcement by the University Scholarship Committee.

Winners of the scholarships valued at $180, each of them were selected on the basis of high school record and activities, objective tests, character and maturity, and educational purpose in terms of what the applicants intend to study in college and of time after graduation.

The daughter of Mrs. Cary L. Martin, Mary was an outstanding student in high school. An honor graduate, she was a member of the Beta Club, Science Club, Quill and Scroll, and editor of the school yearbook, and art and photography editor of the school paper.

Donaldson also made an outstanding record as a high school student. A district debater, he was vice-president of Quill and Scroll, sports editor of the school annual, a member of the choir, Beta Club, manager of the Hi-Owl, and youth councilman in school election sponsored by Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y.

At the University Miss Martin plans to take a course in Fine Arts and Interior Decorating, a member of the choir, Beta Club, manager of the Hi-Owl, and youth councilman in school election sponsored by Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y.

FOR TAX COMMISSIONER
To the Voters of Bulloch County: "I have a heart's desire to serve my fellow citizens as the county tax Commissioner, and I now announce myself a candidate for this office and will highly appreciate your consideration, influence and vote."

J. A. (LONNIE) BRANNEN.

From Statesboro News, July 7, 1933.
Members of the Methodist Church hope to be able to occupy their new church next Sunday; the organ has been placed in position.

W. T. Hughes and family are the latest addition to our citizenship; he is opening up a stock of general merchandise on South Main street.

The recent issue of $30,000 of municipal waterworks bonds has been sold to John Neuvesser & Co., Clinton, and work will begin at once on the water and light plant.

Shady Dale farm, Albert M. Deal ought to be president of the United States, then Teddy could recognize a man of his superior. (Deal was at that time a member of the Georgia legislature, and somebody was expressing this opinion of his worth.)

Social events: Wyley DeLoach and Miss Cora Hendrix were united in marriage last Sunday. J. V. Rountree performed the ceremony. J. V. Dutton and family, of Macon, Fla., came up Sunday for a visit, relatives in Bulloch county—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Franklin are visiting relatives at Blitch; Mr. Franklin is employed as clerk for the Simmons Co. and is having a month's vacation.

From Statesboro News, July 7, 1933.
New steel bridge at Dover was completed and formally turned over to county commissioners by the contractors yesterday; occasion was celebrated with a fat fry.

Pleading to the last that he is not Paul Talbot, and that an injustice is being done to him, a negro boy, 42 years old, who was arrested for an escape from the Bulloch county chain gang was returned to the prison yesterday.

The only convertible that outsells Ford!

WHAT IS IT that makes Ford's Sunliner America's best seller? Is it its high-compression V-8 power? (No other convertible in Ford's field has this kind of engine.) Is it the fine craftsmanship of its Crestmark Body? (No body in its field can match Ford's choice of exterior and interior color combinations.) Is it its new spring and shock absorber action which makes even roughest roads feel smooth? (The Sunliner's springs are tailored to its weight.) Is it the choice of Fordomatic, Overdrive or Conventional you get? (You won't find such a choice in any other car in Ford's field.)

No, it's not just any one of these things that make Ford America's largest-selling convertible. It's all 41 of Ford's "Worth More" features... features which folks know make Ford worth more when they buy it, worth more when they sell it.

Why Do Men Disagree?

"Adam and Eve in Eden lived—
A garden bright and fair;
No evil thing 'er did them ill,
And every good was there."
—ANONYMOUS.

AT THE OLD log school house in which we began the cultivation of philosophy which we have been distributing to a more or less inquisitive world for the last four-fifths of a century, the story we learned was about the mistake of Adam when he listened to Eve and disobeyed the laws which are said to have been given him to keep silent.

The almost entire period of that four-fifths of a century we have sort of condemned Eve for this domination. Later, however, as we sit bowed in silence there comes to our reasoning a sort of realization that, after all, what Eve did was not so unkind: She set men to work to take care of themselves, and we now recognize industry and activity are essential to the going of a business world. If men were not compelled to work for their daily bread, and even for their shirts and pants—well, what sort of business activity would keep the wheels of progress moving?

It seems, after all, that a kind Providence could have made men—or women, for that matter—void of the sense of hunger and gold, but then what would there have been to keep people out of mischief, meddling with other people's affairs? Have you ever contemplated that situation?

Proceeding toward the end of time, with occasional moments for silent thought, we recognize that hunger and cold are absolute essentials to successful existence. The need to buy pants, gives the pants maker an opportunity to earn a little money—to subscribe for the paper. Then the little subscription money turns into a business for the postoffice and the rural carriers, and creates activity among persons who might be loafing or into mischief of some sort otherwise.

The law learned on the school yard at the old Plumb school house read, "What goes up must come down. On your head, or on the ground." The water which is drawn up by the rays of the sun, is driven into remote circulation by the winds which blow. If water remained where it fell—if there were no rivers, creeks or streams—there would be dearth of nature. In a place called "Dead Lake" in the far west, it is said there is no outlet—nor any living creature. The lake holds everything it gets—except that which the rays of the sun steal by uprising force. And this is the summation of all life—that which is not kept in action, dies.

We are sort of glad, then, that we and our friends have a yearning, silent voice within which cries for a bit of bread and a glass of milk at occasional periods; and a body and limbs which call for clothing in the seasons.

We are glad there is an incentive in our people to gain—but we draw the line of appreciation when those neighbors are not willing to give value in exchange for what they get. Why do men disagree? Because they stand at different positions—each man in a preferred place of self-interest.
